Good afternoon,

I continue to read in the San Jose Mercury News about housing developments in San Jose.

My question is this:

Who from the City council is really looking into what is being said from our communities?

Here on the East Side of San Jose, we are tremendously over-whelmed by abandoned cars, homeless encampments, blight, and very limited services at best.

It is very disheartening to continue to see and hear, how the City is so concerned about our communities when the desperatage between the East Side and the West Side is so noticeable.

Before the City continues to make more plans for the East Side of San Jose, take a drive down Story Road, San Antonio, Lani Avenue, Barlow Street, etc. I can give you more avenues to check out before we continue to discuss how more housing is good for San Jose.
